Gugg presented to the commission the employees' views as to the meaning of the evidence developed by the commission's investigators.

Mr. Gregg asserted that this practice of the carriers not only created unemployment among railroad shop workers but that it resulted in great losses of money that should have been devoted to the public service of the railroad. He charged that by the operation of the warranty clause of the Transportation Act this $2,472,982 excess cost had been quietly passed on to the tax payer by the Pennsylvania Management. He requested the commission to deduct that amount from government payments to the railroad company. He stated that the commission's own investigations had proved that the contract was unjustified and improvident. He scored the Democratic administration for its failure to Counsel for the commission together with a number of the commission's investigators presented the full story of how the Penn.sylvania railroad last year saved the Baldwin company.

JUNE WEDDINGS OF INTEREST

FEATURE SOCIAL CALENDAR
June weddings will play a prominent part in the social calendar this week. Several pretty weddings have taken place and others are scheduled for this week.

A pretty appointed wedding was that of Miss Jennie Levinson, daughter of Morris H. Levinson of East Crawford avenue, and Joseph S. Cooper, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Cooper of Steubenville, O., solemnized yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the bathroom of the Rittenhouse, Pittsburgh. Because of the recent death of the bride's mother, the wedding was very quiet, and the immediate members of the two families being present. Rabbi Ashinsky of Pittsburgh officiated. The bride wore a charming frock of dark blue tulle and georgette crepe, and tulle hat of the same tone with a facing of pale pink georgette. She carried a huge bouquet of white roses. Mrs. Arthur I. Ford of Steubenville, O., a sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's maid of honor, and appeared in dark brown tulle with hat to match and carried a bouquet of white roses. Other bridesmaids were Miss Cecelia Levinson, her sister's maid of honor, wore a dark blue tulle frock with hat to match and carried a bouquet of flowers in Dresden shades. Ben Cooper of Steubenville was his brother's best man. Immediately after the ceremony a handsomely appointed wedding dinner was served in the ballroom. Covers for thirty-two were laid. Three huge bouquets of cut flowers in Dresden shades, interspersed with ferns, formed the attractive table decorations. The place cards were miniature brides, while the favors were small pink boxes holding soap and silver with almonds. The wedding is one of interest to the many friends of the bride and bridegroom in Connelville and vicinity. Mrs. Cooper is popular socially and has resided in Connelville virtually all her life. The bridegroom until recently was engaged in business in Steubenville. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper left last night for a wedding trip to Atlantic City and other eastern points of interest. They expect to be absent about three weeks and on their return will be at home in Connelville where the bridegroom will be associated in business with the bride's father.

Pretty Church Wedding

St. Rita's Italian Catholic church in the West Side was the scene of an unusually pretty wedding this morning at 10:30 o'clock when Miss Philomena Mary Pope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Pope of this place, was united in marriage to Charles George Tierno of Cheat Haven. Nuptial high mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Henry DeVito, the pastor. Miss Pauline Carlo sang Ave Marie at the altar and Miss Angela Gandolfi presided at the organ. The bride wore a handsome gown of white silk lace and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her long tulle veil was held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. The bridesmaids, Miss Jennie Megaro and Miss Mildred Noll, wore white organdy frocks with large picture hats to match. They carried arm bouquets of pink roses. Nathaniel N. Palmer was best man. Following the ceremony a beautifully appointed reception was held at noon in the bride's home. The bride is one of the most widely and favorably known young women of Connelville. This afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Tierno left for New Alexandria, Pa., and this evening a reception in their honor will be held at the home of the bridegroom's parents. On their return from a wedding trip to New York City and points of interest along the Great Lakes, Mr. and Mrs. Tierno will be at home at Cheat Haven.

Miss White Weds.

One of the most interesting of the June weddings is that of Miss Anne E. White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. White of Connelville, and Mr. Harold J. Canole, assisted by Rev. Graven, Rev. Byrne, Rev. McGarvey, Rev. Damian and Rev. Kelly. Miss Margarette Burgoon, a cousin of the bridegroom, of Altoona, and Edward White, of this city, a brother of the bride, were the attendants. Mrs. R. Valentine played the wedding march and the mass was sung by Dr. Stephen V. Luddy and Miss Shoemaker of Hollidaysburg. The bride is a graduate of Mount Aloysius academy at Cresson, and for the past term she was a teacher in the same academy, completing the term this month. She is very popular among her friends in Connelville. The bridegroom was graduated from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich., and is one of Altoona's prominent young dentists. Among the out of town guests at the wedding were Miss Fitzgerald of Pittsburgh, and Miss Hardin Davant of Knoxville, Va. On their return from an eastern wedding trip Dr. and Mrs. Jones will be at home at Altoona.

INGROWN TOE NAIL
TURNS OUT ITSELF

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night. "Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Adv.

STIMULATING INTEREST IN SCOUTING.

The organization of Boy Scout troops among boys of the immaculate conception Catholic church should give a new impetus to scouting in this section. The fact that this activity is to be cooperated in without distinction as to church affiliations of the members of the troops is so praiseworthy that it should receive every needed encouragement to insure the largest measure of success.

It is no longer a question of the value of scouting as a form of training for boys during the most critical years of their lives. That has been abundantly proven. It is merely a question of arousing and maintaining sufficient interest to bring about the organization of troops, and to secure the enlistment of young men who are qualified to serve as scoutmasters.

In the formation of troops the necessary interest can best be stimulated by parents and friends of the boys who have a real concern in their development as good and useful citizens. To secure scoutmasters is perhaps more difficult but it should not be. There are many young men in Conneltsville particularly among those who served in the World War who are in every way fitted to take leadership in scouting. If they are but encouraged the splendid opportunity thus afforded to win the confidence and respect of young boys and train them in the principles of right conduct which are the foundation of the Boy Scout movement they would be glad to take up this work.

Conneltsville ought to have a Boy Scout organization according to the country both in the number of troops and the efficiency of their leadership. We have the material for both but unfortunately, the necessary interest has not developed. That it has not developed is somewhat of a reflection upon parents who are too busy on too indifferent to the welfare of their own and other boys to take an active part in promoting scout activities. It is hoped therefore with the stimulus which will follow the organization of troops under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus that there will be no complete cooperation and more general interest that Conneltsville will very shortly attain the rank in scouting which every friend of boys feels is possible to be attained.

WOMEN IN PARTY COUNCILS.

To amending its rules to admit women to membership the Republican state committee has given complete recognition to the right of the new voters to share in the party councils and the responsibilities of leadership. By according to a woman the honor and privilege of presiding at the last meeting of the committee in the absence of State Chairman Crow who is ill a graceful tribute was paid to the recently enfranchised citizens of the state. The state committee thus took step with the national committee which recently selected a woman to be vice chairman. Until the last elections women members of the state committee will be named by the committee state laws not providing for their election this year. In the full-out sense Republican women have been accorded every privilege previously enjoyed by male members of the party.

This is an eminently right thing and proper. Having the right of franchise women are just as fully entitled to share in the deliberations of the party councils as they are to cast their ballot at the polls. They should also be permitted to assume part of the responsibility in shaping the party policies and the conduct of campaigns. They have among their number those who are entirely capable to take up these duties. That they will do so and discharge them with the utmost fidelity is a foregone conclusion on being true that women engage in public duties and activities with energy and a conscientious regard for their obligations.

Having secured equal suffrage for women the Republican party has consistently adhered to its principles by taking every step necessary to secure for women the full enjoyment of that right. The party will thus be made a stronger and more efficient instrument for the expression of the popular will in which women will have an important part.

MORE THAN A MISS' CHOICE.

In selecting Colonel Thomas S. Crago as candidate for Congressman at large, to succeed the late W. M. Garland, the Republican state committee has done more than made a choice. It has given deserving recognition to one whose record as a soldier and statesman so eminently quality him for the important duty of representing the people of the state as a whole in the House of Representatives.

During his service as representative from this district and later as one of the four representatives at-large, Colonel Crago showed that he was indefatigable in safeguarding the interests of his constituents and conscientiously faithful in the discharge of his duties. As a member of the Military Affairs Committee he was largely instrumental in shaping the military policy of Congress which contributed so much to the vigorous and energetic prosecution of the war effort we became a participant.

Loyal to friends, state and nation and gifted as a speaker of convincing power and a tireless worker, Colonel Crago possesses every qualification entitling him to receive the honor conferred upon him by the state committee which is certain to be confirmed by the people at the polls at the November election.

Gardens and Thrift

J. S. W. SIKES
President American Society for Thrift

Three years ago at this time every available patch of ground was being utilized for the increased production of food. The boys and girls of the land were cultivating small garden spaces and their efforts were encouraged and supplemented by the work of adults. As a result a tremendous supply of additional food was produced and there was furnished a splendid manifestation of patriotic thrift.

The same energy and industry in the practice of thrift should exist to day. Vacant tracts in our cities and towns and even in the rural districts should not be allowed to stand idle. And the kinder opportunity of teaching thrift especially to the youth of the nation should not be neglected.

At least a portion of our war time thrift was purely a demonstration of patriotism. It fitted into the great scheme of winning the war. In the cultivation of war gardens, the purchase of Liberty Bonds and Thrift stamps we were actuated largely by motives of patriotism rather than of thrift. And this was right so far in those days there was nothing finer than the glory of patriotism.

Today we as a nation should get down to the fundamentals of thrift practices with the same intelligent enthusiasm that was demonstrated three years ago. We should not neglect the opportunities that are passing by day. If we continue to do this we shall see a nation gradually drift back into the improvidence and extravagance which once was so flagrant that Americans like the world over were stigmatized as exemplars of the thriftless.

A great opportunity for teaching and practicing thrift lies at hand to day. There are unsightly vacant places in every community that can either be used in the cultivation of vegetable gardens or made beautiful with flowers and shrubbery.

And it should be borne in mind about everything else that the intrinsic value of the food thus produced or the refining influences of the flowers and shrubs will be as nothing compared to the values of the thrift lessons that will thus be taught.

To inspire any boy or girl or man or woman with an appreciation of thrift and its manifold advantages is the most splendid gift that could be bestowed upon them.

Let us not neglect during these days our opportunities for encouraging thrift.

Just Folks

Edgar A. Gussel

MARJORIE.

The house is as it was when she was here. There's nothing changed at all about the place. The benches she loved to read are waiting. As if tomorrow they would see her face. Her room remains the way it used to be. Here are the puzzles that she pondered on. Yet they are the angels called for Marjorie. The joyous spirit of the home has gone.

All things grow lovely underneath her touch. The room was bright because it knew her smile. From her the tiniest twinkler gathered much. The cheapest of became a thing of worth while. Yet here are her possessions as they were. No longer joys to set the eyes aglow. Today as we try seem to mourn for her. And share the sadness that is sure to know.

Half sobbing now we put her games away. Because dumb things they cannot understand. Whence more shall Marjorie come to play? And we have faith in God at our command. These tears are wasted at once now start. They are a smile to wonder at they lie on still. For all her name and will throughout the years. And strengthen us to bow unto thy will.

GUSSET'S FIFTH VOLUME

When Day Is Done by Edgar A. Gussel. This is the fifth volume in a charming and worthy addition to his series. It contains the most beautiful and most touching words of the poet's heart. The book is a masterpiece of the American scrap book and the American mind. It is a masterpiece of the American mind. It is a masterpiece of the American mind.

It is interesting to note that the first printing of "When Day Is Done" was 40,000—said to be one of the biggest best editions of any book of poetry.

At the Theatres

THE SOISSON.

"REPUTATION"—A pig picture with Priscilla Dean, the popular screen star in the stellar role, opened today for a three day attraction at this theatre. The picture provides a splendid role for Miss Dean and is interesting throughout. It will please all members of the family. A selected comedy is also included.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"DICE OF DESTINY"—A Pathe picture with H. B. Warner in the leading role, is being shown today and will also be the feature attraction tomorrow. "Dice of Destiny" is not claimed by its advertising as an extra special super-feature, but those who see it are going to remember it as one of the few "100 per cent pictures" in entertainment value they have ever seen. H. B. Warner out-Jimmy Valentines himself as Jimmy Doyle a jewel thief left in charge of his pal's daughter Jimmy decides the way to keep her out of the crook game is to provide her with an honest husband and to that end he goes straight. He falls in love with the girl himself and continues on the level, but is double-crossed by a crook who has traced him and who wants the girl in his power. The result is prison again for Jimmy. He thinks the detective framed him and when destiny places the detective helpless in his power, the story reaches the height of its dramatic climax, swiftly followed by a surprise human comedy twist that is only one of the many touches of genius displayed in the direction of Henry King.

THE ORPHEUM.

"THE THIEF"—A William Fox picture giving to Pearl White the popular screen star another masterpiece is the feature attraction today and will also be shown tomorrow. Miss White shows greater histrionic ability with every new picture. "The Thief" is not only pleasing and thrilling from a story standpoint but it is beautiful photographically and scenically. It is incident that William Fox is giving Miss White the best stories he can obtain for her and to spending money lavishly to stage her productions. "The Thief" is a story of a woman whose husband hasn't sufficient money to do as her as well as the women of the circle are dressed. Other women scorn this wife in consequence of men scorn her. But she finds a way to get beautiful gowns—and then women admire her and men try to make love to her. The climax is a superb one with Miss White at her best. Her supporting cast does excellent work.

Confluence

CONFLUENCE June 18—Will Anderson, has purchased the Perry Bros. residence. Rev. Henry Knott of the Christian church was a recent visitor to Washington, D. C. N. F. Bowlin of Charleston who has been ill for several months, remains about the same.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

How Much Should You Pay For a Fine Car?

So far as prices are concerned, the Paige 6-66 is quite obviously the greatest dollar-for-dollar value on the American market. It is not only legitimately priced, but it is actually selling for from one to three thousand dollars less than its nearest competitors.

We respect this competition but as business men must insist that the discrepancy is altogether unjustified. Unless 6-66 prices are vastly increased, the higher priced cars must ultimately reduce. This appears to be the only fair and sensible conclusion.

At any rate, please consider this one fact: You can today buy a Paige car with a sense of absolute security because you are buying on the new readjustment level. There can be no sudden depreciation of your investment—no "price cuts" to meet competitive standards.

Paige is at rock bottom in price and peak position in quality. For that reason it is a safe, sane and profitable investment.

Bricks of Game Are Against Team and Players Seem in Slump.

BROWN WINS IN TENNIS

J. J. Verona's Washington Field club of Pittsburg defeated the local Independents Saturday, 9-2. The victory by far the fastest team that has played on Fayette Field this year swatted the ball about hits were needed and breaks of the game went their way.

The first inning saw four runs scored and then five others were scattered throughout the remaining frames. The locals scored a man in the second and fifth.

Kinnee, left fielder for the Verona's, poked out a home run in the opening round bringing in two runs. The Cokers seemed to have an off day in all departments and the showing Saturday was greatly different from that of the previous week when the team played tight ball.
